

About Stein's Honey

Stein Honey's humble beginnings started with just two beehives purchased to pollinate apple trees in the Stein Family yard. Twenty years later, Stein's owns more than 625 hives and produce thousands of pounds annually. The beekeeping and production is done in-house, letting them tend to the bees and provide them with the utmost care. They also use the bees to produce comb honey and cream honey, while the byproduct of beeswax is used for candles, ensuring nothing goes to waste. Their products are all natural, and made with pride.

Stein's Local Honey

#02050

1-16 oz.

#02290

1-5 lb.

Stein's Honey has been a family tradition since 1998. The Stein Hives are located in Collins, Ohio.

Contact sales rep for product availability.
premierproduceone.com